WELCOME TO THE COLORADO HORSE PARK

We would like to welcome you to The Colorado Horse Park for what we anticipate will be a fantastic year for this historic facility. In a strategic effort to restore this venue to its rightful place as a leading equestrian destination in the west, we remain completely committed to maintaining and improving the safety and quality of competition and will continue to do so for years to come.

The state of Colorado is well respected for not only the beautiful landscape, but also the inherent sense of freedom, adventure, and passion embodied within its local communities. We feel confident that this essential sense of identity will be reflected in the series of competitions scheduled for this season.

Our goal and driven objective is to influence and expand the reach of equestrian sport throughout the United States and the world. The Colorado Horse Park is a valued jewel in a series of expanding facilities operating alongside one another, the Tryon International Equestrian Center (TIEC) in Mill Spring, NC, the Palm Beach International Equestrian Center (PBIEC) in Wellington, FL, and the recently acquired International Polo Club in Wellington, FL.

The Colorado Horse Park has served as an iconic location for numerous equestrian disciplines throughout the years and we look forward to continuing and developing that deeply rooted tradition. The long-term vision for The Colorado Horse Park offers tremendous possibility, which is both an exciting and motivating venture, as opportunity here will only continue to grow and succeed as we look towards a very bright future ahead.

We hope you enjoy The Colorado Horse Park this season!

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT OF THE COLORADO HORSE PARK

We would like to welcome you to The Colorado Horse Park (CHP) for what we anticipate will be an exciting and significant competition season in Parker, CO. During your stay at CHP, we hope you explore, experience, and enjoy all that the venue and surrounding Parker community has to offer. The Colorado Horse Park is a historic equestrian property that has influenced the aspirations and careers of many of our sport's finest athletes and we are honored to keep that tradition alive.

Over the course of the past two years, The Colorado Horse Park has undergone a major transition, which will reshape and reinvigorate opportunities for equestrian competitors of all disciplines at the venue for years to come. We're proud of the progress made to this point and we will continue to focus on improvements in quality, safety, and overall experience around the facility for our exhibitors, spectators, sponsors, and vendors.

The rich history of this venue has provided a strong and significant driving motivation throughout our ongoing refurbishment process. The Colorado Horse Park has served as a longstanding pillar within the local community for many years and we look forward to reconnecting and engaging with visitors to the park this season. As part of our overall vision for The Colorado Horse Park this past spring, we proceeded with plans to renovate and replace the footing in the International Ring, as well as Ring 6 and 7, providing a world-class riding surface to our competitors. Further renovation plans this season will include extended use of the Central Park Pavilion, as well as group activities for exhibitors throughout the week, including free weekly pizza parties and ice cream socials. The management team at CHP is eager to receive constructive feedback and comments in order to continue facilitating appropriate improvements at the facility.

Our first major event of the season began on Thursday, June 2, and continued through Sunday, June 5, with the FEI CCI 2* / 1* presented by Adequan®, FEI CIC 1* and Horse Trials. The Summer in the Rockies Series (June 8 - July 24) will follow, offering seven consecutive weeks of competition and showcasing talented riders of both the hunter and jumper disciplines.

Alongside our hunter/jumper, eventing, and dressage events, we're honored to have been named the host venue for the 2016 Adequan®/FEI North American Junior Young Rider Championships (NAJYRC) presented by Gotham North, a monumental event for the next generation of rising stars in our sport. We look forward to hosting these gifted athletes during the final week of July and are proud to support these riders as they pursue their equestrian dreams.

The future of The Colorado Horse Park is lined with success and we're eager to begin bringing some of the world's best competitors, sponsors, and spectators to this venue, enhancing equestrian sport throughout this region and ultimately around the world.

We thank you for your continued support!

THE COLORADO HORSE PARK RENOVATIONS CONTINUE TO IMPROVE FACILITY DURING 2016 SEASON

The Colorado Horse Park is currently in the process of experiencing major expansion and renovations, as the first component of a multistage construction plan outlined for the venue began this past April. Equestrian Services International (ESI) will oversee the improvements to the footing around the venue. The footing upgrades will serve as the first step in the anticipated construction timeline for restoration of the historic facility since its purchase by the Colorado Equestrian Partners in late 2014.

The venue has already seen a major upgrade to footing in three rings, while a focus on enhancing customer service and the overall competition experience will also be a priority this season, as venue management intends to create a friendly, competitive, and educational atmosphere for competitors and spectators.

The footing upgrades have been well-received by the local equestrian community, as Equestrian Services International (ESI) will use their International All-Weather Footing, the same footing material that furnishes competition rings at both the world-renowned Palm Beach International Equestrian Center (PBIEC) and Tryon International Equestrian Center (TIEC), to complete the rings at CHP. Three rings are currently undergoing construction at CHP, the International Ring as well as Ring 6 and Ring 7.

Facility Upgrades

"We've moved almost 10,000 cubic yards of dirt over the past two months and have created rings to meet the proper angles for major competition arenas," said Brett Rafterwitz, President and CEO of Equestrian Services International. "When we build rings, we never have more than a 1% incline and a lot of the rings that we've redone so far were at a 3% or 4% incline, so the hard work on that front is done."

A major piece of focus throughout the entire footing upgrade process has been the addition of a more technologically advanced draining system based in each arena. Rafterwitz explained, "These arenas will each have full drainage and a pre-draining base with five to six inches of riding surface on top, as well as an equivalent amount of drainage rock underneath."

The improvements come as a welcomed addition to the overall revamp of the facility and the management team at CHP is thrilled with the progress the venue has made in the past few months.

"We feel very strongly that these footing upgrades will be an incredible asset to the growth and expansion of The Colorado Horse Park, while creating a competitive and safe atmosphere for our exhibitors," said Meg Krueger, Chief Operating Officer of The Colorado Horse Park. "Brett and his team have done an excellent job organizing and executing this project for us and we're very pleased with the results so far."

ESI has currently redone footing in three of the competition rings and Rafterwitz sees the final pieces of the project coming together, which is his favorite component of major reconstruction at equestrian venues.

"I really enjoy watching the site work come together. That's where you see the biggest improvement of that material getting shaped in. You grade it in the right positions and the arenas start to come alive when you find the right angles," he elaborated. "Our main goal was to prevent the water from coming down off those slopes into the arena and I think we've done a very good job at constructively solving that problem."

Future plans for the venue include extended use of the Central Park lounge, as well as a games area and on-site pub. Continued improvements to the venue will span through the season and enhance the an array of additional facilities located throughout the park.

Eventing Grows In Colorado

EVENTING GROWS IN COLORADO

By: Aubrey Mason

The sport of eventing took root in France in 1902, before soon migrating to the United States and throughout the rest of Europe, quickly becoming one of the most widely spectated equestrian sports around the world.

Eventing facilities within Area IX, the encompassing region set by the United States Eventing Association (USEA) in which The Colorado Horse Park sits, have helped to build and strengthen the sport throughout the country, creating a nation of both amateur and professional eventers. Competitions now span from Grand Junction, Colorado, to Elizabeth, Colorado, and move eastward covering the state almost corner to corner.

Eventing in Colorado is on the rise and CHP's top priority is to provide competitors with the highest quality and safest experience possible. Eventing at CHP ushered in a new era in 2006, as David O'Connor, Olympic gold medalist, former President of the United States Equestrian Federation and current Chef d'Equipe of the U.S. Eventing Team, completely transformed eventing at the venue. The cross-country course and footing were significantly upgraded to provide a premier eventing facility to equestrians everywhere.

James Atkinson, a California based eventer and USEF and FEI licensed cross-country course designer and builder, has further spearheaded the excellence of eventing at The Colorado Horse Park, continuing to expand the cross-country course into one of the most exemplary tracks in the west. His goal for CHP is to foster and build an environment where competitors can perform to their highest ability in a fun, safe, and educational atmosphere for combinations of all levels. The newly designed course has been outfitted with the most cutting edge jumps, encompassing the newest safety technologies available in the sport, while largely exemplifying the variety of unique terrain in Colorado, giving the course a very western and natural feel.

The Colorado Horse Park is incredibly excited to kick-off the equestrian sport filled season with the FEI CCI 2*/1* presented by Adequan®, FEI CIC2* and Horse Trials Event beginning Thursday, June 2, and concluding Sunday, June 5. Throughout the summer season, CHP will host more than 200 riders from various levels within the sport of eventing and the venue will welcome two more horse trials, one in August (August 12 - 14) and September (September 15 - 18). OSPHOS contains clodronate disodium, a bisphosphonate indicated for the control of clinical signs associated with navicular syndrome in horses. OSPHOS is the only FDA-approved bisphosphonate for use in horses that is labeled for intramuscular injection. In a clinical trial evaluating OSPHOS in 86 horses, lameness improved in 74.7% of horses by at least one grade 56 days after treatment. Only 9% of horses displayed clinical signs of being uncomfortable, nervous, colicky and/or pawing after receiving OSPHOS. Less than 1% of horses experienced colic requiring treatment.

As with all drugs, side effects may occur. In field studies, the most common side effects reported were signs of discomfort or nervousness, colic, and/or pawing. OSPHOS should not be used in pregnant or lactating mares, or mares intended for breeding. Use of OSPHOS in patients with conditions affecting renal function or mineral or electrolyte homeostasis is not recommended. Refer to the prescribing information for complete details or visit www.dechra-us.com.

CAUTION: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of licensed veterinarian.

* Freedom of Information Summary, Original New Animal Drug Application, NADA 141-427, for OSPHOS. April 28, 2014.

OSPHOS[®]

(clodronate injection)

Bisphosphonate
For use in horses only.

Brief Summary (For Full Prescribing Information, see package insert)

CAUTION: Federal (USA) law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian.

DESCRIPTION: Clodronate disodium is a non-amino, chloro-containing bisphosphonate. Chemically, clodronate disodium is (dichloromethylene) diphosphonic acid disodium salt and is manufactured from the tetrahydrate form.

INDICATION: For the control of clinical signs associated with navicular syndrome in horses.

CONTRAINDICATIONS: Horses with hypersensitivity to clodronate disodium should not receive OSPHOS.

WARNINGS: Do not use in horses intended for human consumption.

HUMAN WARNINGS: Not for human use. Keep this and all drugs out of the reach of children. Consult a physician in case of accidental human exposure.

PRECAUTIONS: As a class, bisphosphonates may be associated with gastrointestinal and renal toxicity. Sensitivity to drug associated adverse reactions varies with the individual patient. Renal and gastrointestinal adverse reactions may be associated with plasma concentrations of the drug. Bisphosphonates are excreted by the kidney; therefore, conditions causing renal impairment may increase plasma bisphosphonate concentrations resulting in an increased risk for adverse reactions. Concurrent administration of other potentially nephrotoxic drugs should be approached with caution and renal function should be monitored. Use of bisphosphonates in patients with conditions or diseases affecting renal function is not recommended. Administration of bisphosphonates has been associated with abdominal pain (colic), discomfort, and agitation in horses. Clinical signs usually occur shortly after drug administration and may be associated with alterations in intestinal motility. In horses treated with OSPHOS these clinical signs usually began within 2 hours of treatment. Horses should be monitored for at least 2 hours following administration of OSPHOS.

Bisphosphonates affect plasma concentrations of some minerals and electrolytes such as calcium, magnesium and potassium, immediately post-treatment, with effects lasting up to several hours. Caution should be used when administering bisphosphonates to horses with conditions affecting mineral or electrolyte homeostasis (e.g. hyperkalemic periodic paralysis, hypocalcemia, etc.).

The safe use of OSPHOS has not been evaluated in horses less than 4 years of age. The effect of bisphosphonates on the skeleton of growing horses has not been studied; however, bisphosphonates inhibit osteoclast activity which impacts bone turnover and may affect bone growth.

Bisphosphonates should not be used in pregnant or lactating mares, or mares intended for breeding. The safe use of OSPHOS has not been evaluated in breeding horses or pregnant or lactating mares. Bisphosphonates are incorporated into the bone matrix, from where they are gradually released over periods of months to years. The extent of bisphosphonate incorporation into adult bone, and hence, the amount available for release back into the systemic circulation, is directly related to the total dose and duration of bisphosphonate use. Bisphosphonates have been shown to cause fetal developmental abnormalities in laboratory animals. The uptake of bisphosphonates into fetal bone may be greater than into maternal bone creating a possible risk for skeletal or other abnormalities in the fetus. Many drugs, including bisphosphonates, may be excreted in milk and may be absorbed by nursing animals.

Increased bone fragility has been observed in animals treated with bisphosphonates at high doses or for long periods of time. Bisphosphonates inhibit bone resorption and decrease bone turnover which may lead to an inability to repair micro damage within the bone. In humans, atypical femur fractures have been reported in patients on long term bisphosphonate therapy; however, a causal relationship has not been established.

ADVERSE REACTIONS: The most common adverse reactions reported in the field study were clinical signs of discomfort or nervousness, colic and/or pawing. Other signs reported were lip licking, yawning, head shaking, injection site swelling, and hives/pruritus.

CAMP WAPIYAPI

Wapiyapi addresses the psycho-social needs of families facing childhood cancer with a carefully crafted and unique camp experience. Even after cancer treatments have ended and hair has grown back, there are emotional scars and these extend to the whole family. Started by University of Colorado medical students, Camp Wapiyapi provides a special kind of healing. Pediatric oncology patients and their siblings ages 6 – 17 years of age can regain a normal childhood and begin the mental healing with a lifetime of friends and a supportive community.

Campers enjoy outdoor adventures, laughing, singing, dancing near Estes Park — far from the hospital and doctor's office — and simply being with others who understand. They share the camaraderie of other campers and find supportive adults who care about their emotional and physical well-being. Siblings also attend which validates their own struggles, while giving parents a chance to rest and reflect.

The Colorado-based nonprofit relies solely on donations to fund its programs. The cost of sending a single child to camp is $900. Since 1998 Wapiyapi has served 1,600 children at no cost to families.

Wapiyapi is a Lakota Sioux word meaning health and healing. For hundreds of families facing childhood cancer, it also means hope.

CHILDREN'S DIABETES FOUNDATION

The Children's Diabetes Foundation was established by Barbara and Marvin Davis in 1977 in Denver as a non-profit organization dedicated solely to the support of research in diabetes and to provide the best possible clinical and educational programs for people with the disease. The Foundation's mission is to raise funds to support the Barbara Davis Center for Childhood Diabetes, where thousands of patients of all ages from all over the world receive the finest diabetes care available. Since 1978, the Children's Diabetes Foundation has contributed $100 million dollars to the Barbara Davis Center.

Diabetes is an autoimmune disease that afflicts over 30 million people in the United States, about 3 million of whom have its most severe form, type 1 diabetes (also known as childhood, juvenile or insulin-dependent diabetes). Approximately 40,000 people are diagnosed with type 1 diabetes every year and this number continues to rise.

THE BARBARA DAVIS CENTER

The number of children developing type 1 diabetes each year has doubled since the 1990s in Colorado and throughout most of the world. The increase affects all age groups, but especially young children. Genes that predict diabetes are present in over 90% of children, even when they have no relative with the disease. Either environmental triggers are increasing or something that once protected us from diabetes has been lost. Research at the Barbara Davis Center (BDC) has helped us define the type 1 diabetes epidemic and its environmental and genetic causes. Thanks to this research, we can now predict type 1 diabetes in children and prevent it in animal models. Prevention in humans is now being heavily researched in multiple clinical trials.

TAPS

COMFORT AND SUPPORT FOR THE LOVED ONES OF THOSE WHO SERVED AND DIED

After her husband, Brig. Gen. Tom Carroll, died in a National Guard plane crash in the mountains of Alaska, Bonnie Carroll received the thanks of a grateful nation and then had to move off the base. She soon realized there was no organization, private or military, to help her understand her grief and navigate her new life outside the military.

Bonnie founded TAPS in 1994. Since then, TAPS has become the preeminent national non-profit Veterans Service Organization whose sole mission is to offer help, hope and healing to all those grieving the death of a loved one who served in the Armed Forces of America.

More than 50,000 surviving family members, casualty officers and caregivers have benefited from TAPS. Survivors connect at TAPS programs such as the Survivor Seminars and Retreats for adults, Good Grief Camps for kids, a 24/7 National Military Survivor Helpline 1-800-959-TAPS (8277), and as members of the TAPS Run & Remember Team. More than 19 percent of the TAPS caseload responds to survivors whose military loved one committed suicide.

TAPS receives no government funding, and all programs are free of charge to survivors.

TAPS does not replicate services offered by other organizations, the military, or the government. Charity Navigator gives TAPS its highest four-star rating. This year, Bonnie Carroll accepted the Presidential Medal of Freedom on behalf of all TAPS families.

The Colorado Celebrity Classic to benefit TAPS, now in its 11th year, honors America's fallen heroes and their families. With music, golf, fellowship, and gratitude, donors to the Colorado Celebrity Classic have contributed more than $3 million to TAPS. We invite you to join us!

ZOOLOGY FOUNDATION AT CROOKED WILLOW FARMS

Founded by Jami Jensen in 2009, Zoology Foundation is a 501(c)(3) public charity that promotes education and awareness of animal welfare as well as providing rescue services to animals in need, along with an animal sanctuary to repair and rehabilitate rescued animals.

The mission of Zoology Foundation is to promote and facilitate educational programs regarding animal respect and welfare, and to support those organizations that work for the betterment of animals. 100% of all donations received by Zoology Foundation go to the care and rescue of animals, and our education programs.

Our History

Wapiyapi was the inspiration of a group of medical students from the University of Colorado in the 1990s. Dedicated to the healing and well-being of their pediatric oncology patients, the students envisioned an 'escape' from cancer far away from the hospital and doctors' offices. Their belief was that every child deserves an unforgettable camp experience - the chance to run, laugh and play with other children - and envisioned a summer camp in the Rocky Mountains where children could let go of cancer for a time and just be kids again.

The organization has grown from a handful of children to over 220 children served through three sessions each year near Estes Park. Relying solely on donations to fund its programs, Wapiyapi has served nearly 1,600 children and their families at no cost to families.

Our Signature Program: Camp Wapiyapi

- The cost of sending one child to camp is $900
- Wapiyapi campers are primarily from Colorado from over a dozen counties
- Some families drive 8 hours to get to camp
- About 40% of campers are kids with a cancer diagnosis; 60% are their siblings
- On average, one in every four elementary schools has a child with cancer

Our Mission:

Every child should have a fun summer camp experience. Wapiyapi's mission is to provide an exceptional camp experience that fosters friendships, fun and healing outside of the hospital to families facing childhood cancer. Kids enjoy a week of outdoor fun, crafts, skits, games and more – all at no cost to their families.

Our Goals & Objectives:

There are 1,700 children in Colorado living with cancer. Hundreds of children are newly diagnosed each year. In many cases, the physical trauma is matched or exceeded by the mental trauma and these emotional challenges extend to the whole family.

Serving both the patient and their siblings ages 6 to 17 years of age, Wapiyapi provides a respite from the daily challenges of childhood cancer and an additional circle from which families may draw strength for continued healing.

Kids find they are not alone.

They find that they are cherished just as they are.

And they have fun!

Wapiyapi is translated from the Lakota Sioux word for 'healing.'

Each child is assigned a volunteer companion who is focused on creating the "best week of the year" for their camper.

- 1) every child regardless of disability has a fantastic experience
- 2) siblings too feel special and bond with others with similar challenges
- 3) parents and caregivers have a chance to reconnect and rest

A 100%-volunteer medical staff of physicians and nurses is always available for each camper's individual healthcare needs. Nearly 350 volunteers contributed 14,000 hours to support Wapiyapi in 2015.

The Colorado-based nonprofit has a strong partnership with Children's Hospital Colorado and draws families from across the Rocky Mountain region.

2016 summer camp sessions are June 4-8, 9-13, and 14-18.

Our vision is that every family affected by childhood cancer has an opportunity to heal through the enriching experience that is Wapiyapi.

Education, rescue, and support are the three main tenets of Zoology Foundation. We believe that education is one solution to a better understanding of animals as living, feeling beings that deserve the dignity of a cruelty-free life.

Through multimedia programs geared toward schools along with access to our animal sanctuary, we hope to engage children to want to be stewards of animals, and to protect and respect their place on our planet.

Our SBW Rapid Response Rescue program was created to provide support and logistics to rescue organizations, in emergency situations that threaten the welfare of animals and their caretakers.

Please join us in supporting animal welfare and make a contribution to Zoology Foundation. You can also sponsor one of our sanctuary animals, which is a wonderful way to get your children and family involved in a positive and rewarding activity.

PAYING IT FORWARD | ZOOLOGY FOUNDATION

at Crooked Willow Farms

Equestrians have a special and unique relationship with animals, specifically horses, and many extend those relationships to dogs and other animals. So it really wasn't a stretch for Jami Jensen to honor her late parents' legacy by starting a foundation to educate, promote and foster animal welfare.

Jensen, a seasoned amateur/owner competitor has always had an affinity for animals, and so when her parents requested that she and her siblings start their own charitable foundations, she knew that animals would be the beneficiaries of this foundation.

Founded in 2009, Zoology Foundation is a 501(c)(3) public charity that promotes education and awareness of animal welfare as well as providing rescue services to animals in need, along with an animal sanctuary to repair and rehabilitate rescued animals.

How It All Began

The foundation was still in its infancy when, in 2010, Jensen partnered with Geoff and Valerie Young to facilitate a rescue of a herd of Icelandic horses that were in a feedlot in Washington State, awaiting a slaughter truck to take them to Canada.

The Youngs, owners and publishers of Horse Connection magazine, jumped at the call and drove to Washington to secure the rescue of 23 of the Icelandic horses and bring them back to Colorado to rehome them.

In 2013, the Youngs, again acting on behalf of Jensen and the Zoology Foundation, traveled to Georgia to assist in the transport of 200 abandoned and abused puppies and dogs to forever homes in the Northeast. Working with Animal Aid USA, the rescue mission had a profound effect on Geoff and Valerie that would change the course of their careers.

After publishing a monthly magazine for 14 years, the Youngs realized that their passions had shifted towards working in service. In 2015, Jensen brought the Youngs onboard to promote the mission of the foundation and raise awareness for the many animals in need.

"We wanted to make a difference for the animals and create a legacy for Jami that she could be proud of," said Valerie Young of their decision to join the foundation.

Zoology Foundation is focused on educating children to respect animals through entertaining, informative videos, as well as giving access to the animal sanctuary that is located at Jensen's Crooked Willow Farms in Larkspur, Colorado.

The sanctuary has over 100 animals with a staff to take care of them.

Along with horses, dogs and cats, the sanctuary also has wallabies, tortoises, an eagle owl, a pair of camels, pigs, alpacas and llamas, and various birds and lizards. The habitats for the animals are designed to provide the best nurturing environments for their safety and development.

Passion With Purpose

The SBW Rapid Response Rescue program is the foundation's tool to assist in animal rescue and to provide funding to those organizations that run model rescue programs across the country. Named after legacy benefactor, Sarah Bushong-Weeks, the program has rescued horses in eastern Oregon, pulled dogs from high kill shelters in California and Georgia, and has provided funds to a dozen organizations all over the US and in Africa.

"What I love about Zoology Foundation is that every single dollar raised through donations, fund raisers and animal sponsorship goes directly to rescue efforts and upkeep of the foundation," said Geoff Young. "It all goes to the animals."

Sponsoring one of the sanctuary animals is a great way to get your family involved and is an invaluable experience to teach children to respect all living beings. We encourage you to check out the programs and videos through the Zoology Foundation at Crooked Willow Farms' Facebook Page and YouTube. You can schedule a private tour of the Sanctuary, Volunteer and Donate at ZoologyFoundation.org or please contact Valerie Young, Executive Director at 303.668.1332.

The FAQ's of Degenerative Joint Disease and Adequan® i.m. (polysulfated glycosaminoglycan)

Answered By Dr. Marian Little, DVM, Technical Services Veterinarian, Luitpold Pharmaceuticals

In a recent interview, Dr. Marian Little, DVM, answers frequently asked questions regarding lameness and how Adequan® i.m. may be appropriate for your equine athlete diagnosed with Degenerative Joint Disease (DJD). Adequan® i.m. is the only FDA approved equine PSGAG for the intramuscular treatment of non-infectious DJD of the carpal and hock joints. Adequan® i.m. is proven to diminish the destructive processes of DJD, reverse the processes which result in the loss of cartilage components, and improve joint function and associated lameness.

Q: Is there a specific equine conformation type that may be more likely to develop non-infectious degenerative joint disease (DJD)? (For example, a horse that toes out, or a horse with straight hocks, etc.)

A: Conformation can greatly influence the degree of wear and tear that a joint undergoes. Conformational abnormalities alter the forces applied to a joint and can potentially lead to joint instability, injury and DJD. The mature equine athlete that is performing well has likely adapted to whatever conformation issues exist. However, if you are considering purchasing a young, unproven horse, avoiding horses with significant conformational flaws will increase the likelihood of the chosen horse staying sound. In young foals and growing horses, conformational abnormalities should be addressed as early as possible through proper nutrition, balanced farriery, adequate training and muscle development, and in some cases, surgical intervention.

Q: With respect to different disciplines, would a hunter-jumper or eventer be more susceptible to DJD than a cutting or reining horse?

A: Any horse can develop DJD regardless of age, breed or discipline. However, the horse's discipline may predispose the horse to developing DJD in particular joints. For example, cutting or reining horses put significant stress on their hocks and stifles, and these can be locations where DJD occurs more frequently; whereas hunters will frequently experience more front-limb lameness, such as in the coffin or fetlock joints. It is important to understand that DJD can occur within any joint that consistently experiences wear and tear, known as "use trauma," and can occur in any performance horse, regardless of discipline.

Q: What is the best Adequan® i.m. (polysulfated glycosaminoglycan) dosing regimen for a horse that is diagnosed with DJD?

A: When experiencing a lameness problem, it is important to first obtain an accurate diagnosis from your veterinarian in order to determine the appropriate course of treatment. Initiating a medical treatment without a firm diagnosis can lead to a poor outcome and unnecessary expense. Adequan® i.m. is Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved for the intramuscular treatment of non-infectious degenerative and/or traumatic joint dysfunction and associated lameness of the carpal and hock joints.¹ If a horse has been diagnosed with DJD, your veterinarian may prescribe Adequan® i.m. (polysulfated glycosaminoglycan). The labeled dose of Adequan® i.m. is 500 mg every 4 days for 28 days intramuscularly (for a total of 7 injections).¹ The series should be repeated as needed upon recurrence of the clinical signs of DJD in your horse. There is no FDA approval for, and no published data to support, maintenance dosing regimens for Adequan® i.m.

Q: In your opinion, what is the importance of using FDA-approved products in your horse versus other options?

A: I cannot over-emphasize the importance of using FDA approved products. FDA-approved products have been rigorously tested for safety and efficacy through required clinical studies. It should always be preferable to use FDA-approved products over other products circulating in the equine marketplace, such as compounded medications and medical devices, which are not required to demonstrate safety or efficacy, are not necessarily routinely monitored, and are not regulated with the same level of scrutiny.

Degenerative Joint Disease

Q: Adequan® i.m. is an intramuscular injection – how does it work its way to my horse's joints?

A: Adequan® i.m. is well-supported by published safety and efficacy studies that led to initial FDA approval and has since served the equine industry for more than 27 years. After intramuscular injection, Adequan® i.m. has been shown to diffuse into the bloodstream, which transports the drug into joint synovial fluid, where it is absorbed by articular cartilage at therapeutic levels that inhibit cartilage degrading enzymes.² Adequan® i.m. diminishes the destructive processes of DJD, reverses the processes which result in loss of cartilage components and improves joint function and associated lameness. Adequan® i.m. is the only FDA-approved equine PSGAG recommended for the intramuscular treatment of non-infectious degenerative and/or traumatic joint dysfunction and associated lameness of the carpal and hock joints in horses.¹

Consult your veterinarian if you notice any changes in your horse that may signal the onset of DJD and discuss whether Adequan® i.m. is right for your horse. For more information on Adequan® i.m., please visit www.adequan.com.

Adequan® i.m.: For the intramuscular treatment of non-infectious degenerative and/or traumatic joint dysfunction and associated lameness of the carpal and hock joints in horses. There are no known contraindications to the use of intramuscular Adequan® i.m. brand Polysulfated Glycosaminoglycan in horses. Studies have not been conducted to establish safety in breeding horses. WARNING: Do not use in horses intended for human consumption. Not for use in humans. Keep this and all medications out of the reach of children. CAUTION: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian.

Griffis Residential

Griffis Residential, headquartered in Denver, CO, is an apartment investment adviser and a vertically integrated owner and operator of over 7,500 multifamily apartment units with a combined value of approximately $1.2 billion. With a reputation that has been built on three decades of successful real estate investing, the company employs a time-tested investment strategy and has established a track record of long-term value creation through multiple market cycles.

As an apartment investment adviser, Griffis Residential uses a “core plus” investment thesis – investing in high quality apartment communities that will benefit from operational and capital improvements. These assets are typically of recent vintage, contain 150+ units, and have a total project cost ranging from $30 million - $100+ million. Further, the company is focused on markets where there are a combination of favorable supply/demand dynamics, attractive demographics, appealing lifestyles, and sound economic fundamentals.

As a multifamily asset-class specialist that operates the apartment communities it owns, the firm is able to leverage management best practices across its portfolio. The firm believes that management is an essential component of differentiation, not just in terms of the resident experience but also in terms of the firm’s ability to execute on its investment strategy and deliver strong financial results. Griffis Residential constantly surveys its residents and uses the feedback to develop initiatives that drive continuous improvement in both the resident experience and the firm’s own operating effectiveness.

Griffis Residential believes this approach produces quantifiable results. According to ApartmentRatings.com, Griffis Residential's multifamily portfolio has an average Resident Satisfaction Rating of 83%. This is well above the 60% satisfaction rating required to qualify as "Top Rated" by this same website – a level of distinction awarded to only 5% of apartment communities nationwide – and to 100% of the properties in the Griffis Residential portfolio.

The Griffis Residential investment approach emphasizes value creation independent of market cycles. Rather than trying to time the market, the firm believes that a conservatively leveraged portfolio that is acquired below replacement cost with long-term, fixed rate debt and is operated by strong hands-on management is well positioned to weather market fluctuations.

In addition to its pursuits in the multifamily industry, the firm takes pride in creating a positive impact in the communities that it operates by supporting a number of local charitable organizations such as Goodwill Industries, Children's Hospital Foundation, and the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo to name a few.

Starting from these concepts, Animo offers three different lines for golf, equestrian sports and leisure time, with a common thread: well-being and fashionable style.

The extraordinary elasticity of the fabrics leaves the body free for any movement, and their special composition ensures constant body temperature, and hence protection from excessive heat or cold. The silver inserted in the yarns releases large amounts of ions that are extremely efficient in combating the proliferation of bacteria, which are the main source of unpleasant odors. The body's humidity and perspiration are transferred to the exterior, providing a pleasant sense of dryness and psychophysical well being. UV rays are automatically rejected, increasing the sense of coolness of the skin.

The lightness, the soft touch and the ease of maintenance of the garments, most of which are permanent press, complete the high performance of this clothing, which represents a modern variation on the classic, to enjoy sports and leisure time in comfortable, elegant technical garments. Animo is an exclusively Italian product, which stands out not only for its advanced technology, but also for its lively, colorful collections that reveal the typical charm of products that are made in Italy.

This highly fashionable line offers two unique collections each year, with new designs made in limited quantities. Armando Hassey, the U.S. representative for Animo based in Colorado, has generously donated more than 200 prizes from the brand, which will be distributed to winners throughout the 2016 Summer in the Rockies Series at The Colorado Horse Park.

KASTEL DENMARK

Kastel Denmark by Charlotte Jorst is inspired by the strength of fortress "Kastels" in her native country, Denmark. Channeling contemporary Danish Design, she was also able to capture important functional elements including protection from the sun while staying cool and active, along with durability and quality. Simplicity paired with fashionable flare reflects her Danish heritage and love for timeless design.

Charlotte's creative direction for Kastel Denmark originated from her talent in the equestrian ring as an accomplished rider. Through that industry she saw a void in the marketplace for easily available and affordable sun-protective outerwear. Having been affected both personally and through friends by the harmful results of sun exposure, Charlotte decided that her new venture would focus on the active individual with emphasis on ultra violet protection in many of the designs and product categories - including the "Charlotte Signature Collection" shirts, popular and widely available now.

PLATINUM PERFORMANCE

Advancing the Role of Nutrition in Equine Health for Over 20 Years

Founded In Veterinary Practice - Platinum Performance® was developed at the Alamo Pintado Equine Medical Center in 1996 by Doug Herthel, DVM. Understanding the power of nutrition and recognizing a clinical need, Dr. Herthel developed a formula that would help improve the quality and speed of healing in his patients' bone and soft tissue injuries after orthopedic surgery. Word of Platinum Performance's clinical success began to spread to other referring clinics, then eventually across the country and to horse owners around the world.

Platinum Performance remains a family business with roots firmly planted in veterinary medicine. A seasoned team formulates, develops and tests all products in their California facility to ensure that clients receive products they can trust every time.

Research & Innovation - From the early days, research has been an integral part of the Platinum culture. As the company developed and the line of formulas grew, several veterinary practices and colleges of veterinary medicine began to perform research studies and feeding trials to document the results of supplementing their patients with Platinum Performance formulas.

Looking to the Future - At Platinum Performance believes in the power of optimal nutrition and supplementation, and are constantly moving ahead with new products, new ingredients and new ways to help clients and their animals feel and function at their best. As the team and company grows, they remain committed to their clients and dedication to quality, research and results. That is the Platinum promise.

THE ADEQUAN®/FEI NORTH AMERICAN JUNIOR YOUNG RIDER CHAMPIONSHIPS PRESENTED BY GOTHAM NORTH RIDE INTO THE COLORADO HORSE PARK JULY 27-31!

By: Carly Weilminster

The Adequan®/FEI North American Junior Young Rider Championships presented by Gotham North (NAJYRC) serve as a yearly staple on the equestrian calendar for the next generation of stars competing in dressage, eventing, and show jumping, reining, endurance, and para-dressage. NAJYRC has remained a significant platform of success for many for young riders representing the United States, Canada, or Mexico in equestrian sport. This unique competition provides one of the only opportunities for young athletes to interact with competitors from different disciplines at the same venue. By 2015, NAJYRC competition had added reining, endurance, and para-dressage to the list of major events hosted throughout the week, mimicking a similar format to that of the FEI World Equestrian Games (WEG).

NAJYRC began in 1974 as a friendly challenge between the United States and Canada in the sport of eventing and has evolved into one of the most prestigious competitions in North America. The competition was given recognition by the Fédération Equestre Internationale (FEI) in 1981, after the sport of dressage was added to list of events, while shortly after, in 1982, show jumping rounded out the three participating disciplines.

Originally, NAJYRC was hosted at Maple Ridge in British Columbia, in Canada, and has moved throughout the United States over the course of the past two decades. An important aspect of NAJYRC competition is the profound opportunity it provides both aspiring Junior and Young Rider competitors. Participants under the age of 18 compete within the Junior classification, as recognized by the United States Equestrian Federation (USEF), while riders who have not yet reached their 25th birthday are considered Young Riders. NAJYRC brings together the best competitors of each discipline from their respective regions throughout North America to compete in both team and individual competition.

The week is filled with celebratory events, honoring and recognizing riders, trainers, grooms, and team members for their hard work and dedication throughout the qualifying process. More than a dozen special awards are presented to competitors, chef d'equipes, volunteers, and to the horses throughout the week.

NAJYRC has most recently been hosted at The Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, KY, but a trip westward will welcome the competition back to The Colorado Horse Park for the first time since 2008. The venue has hosted competition previously, once in 1998 and 2000.

The 2015 edition of NAJYRC saw incredibly impressive numbers, as more than 222 individuals competed from the three participating nations, Canada, Mexico, and the United States. The importance of NAJYRC is founded within its competitive nature, which showcases young competitors as they represent their respective regions across each of the disciplines recognized by the FEI and serves as one of the most elite young rider championship events in the world.

NAJYRC serves as a major component on the yearly calendar for both juniors and young riders, as participation in the event helps each participant gain valuable international competition experience, while also understanding and applying important skills such as teamwork, dedication, and perseverance.

The journey to qualify for NAJYRC is daunting, as riders typically begin on their quest early in the year, with each discipline needing to complete specific requirements before they can apply for consideration. The prestige of participation at NAJYRC is a goal set by many riders early in their career, as many of the best riders from the U.S., Canada, and Mexico, have also taken their turn competing in the historic competition.

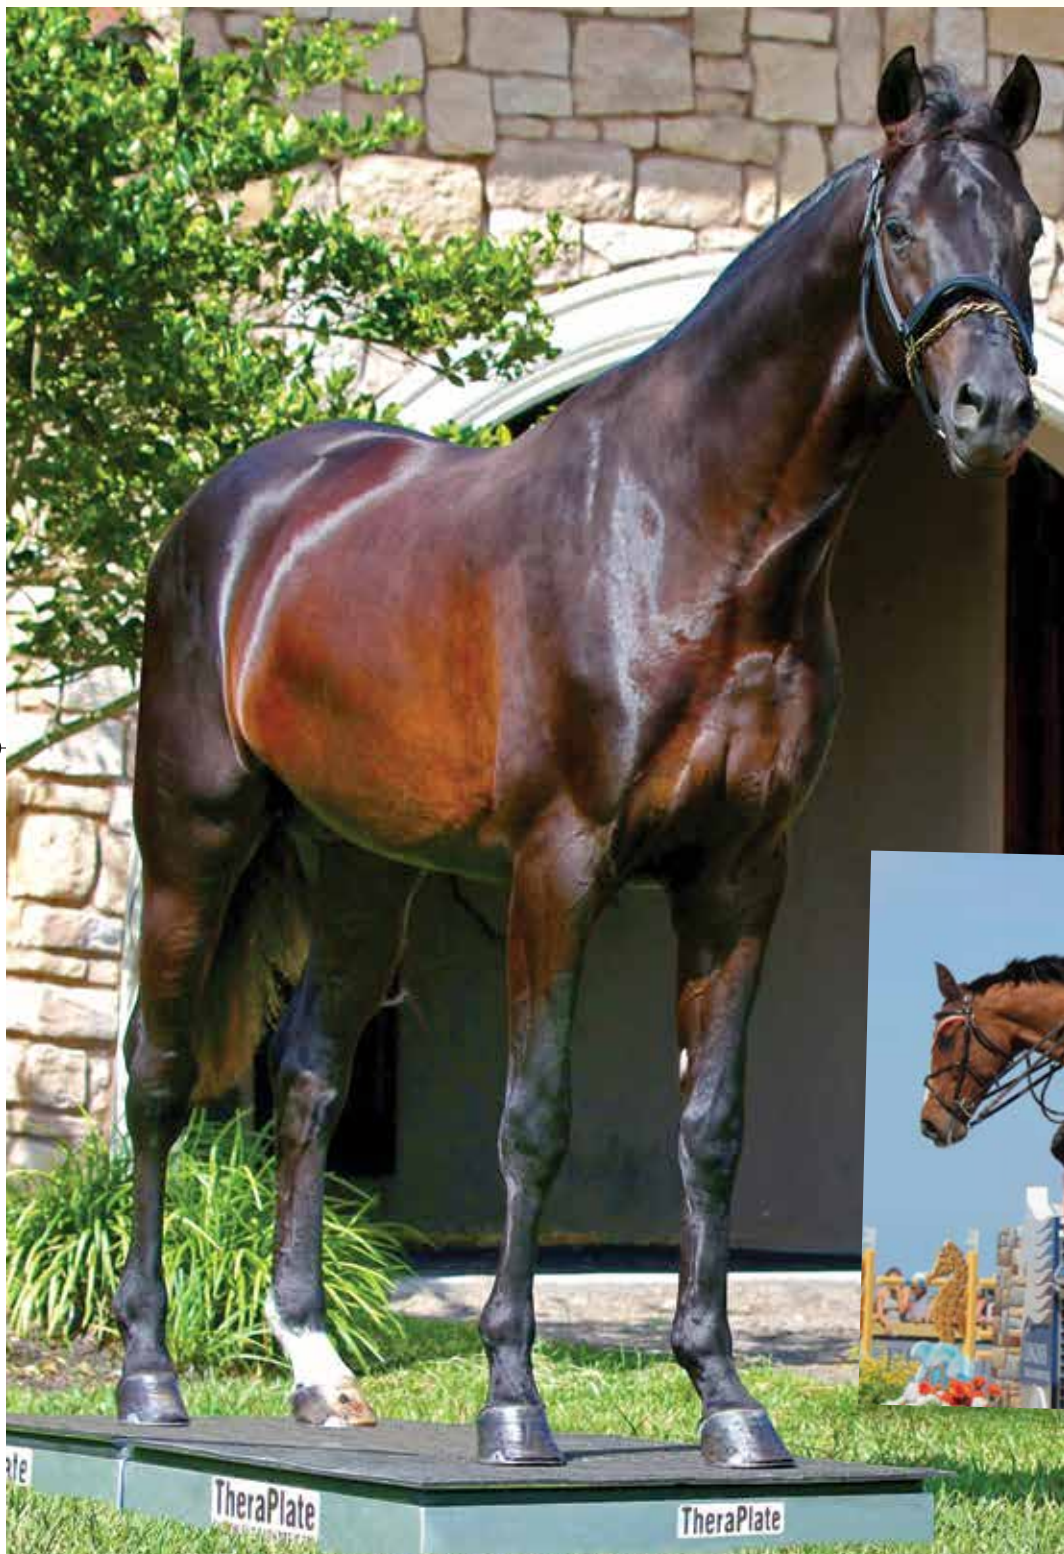

Many world-renowned riders competing in several different disciplines have graced the NAJYRC competition with their talents including dressage standout Adrienne Lyle, who competed for Team USA at the 2012 Olympic Games in London, England, and the 2014 World Equestrian Games in Caen, France, aboard her mount Wizard, eventer Lauren Kieffer, who placed second in 2016 at the Rolex Three Day Event FEI CCI 4* aboard Veronica and also represented Team USA at the 2015 Pan American Games in Toronto aboard Meadowbrook's Scarlett, as well as show jumper Brianne Goutal, the first rider in history to win each of the major equitation finals offered in the United States to junior competitors through the United States Equestrian Federation.

The Colorado Horse Park is proud to continue offering opportunities for riders to enjoy championship competition, while fostering lifelong relationships and strengthening equestrian sport as a whole in North America. The unique design of the DragNfly features heavy duty side rub rails. A row of adjustable, aggressive ripper teeth are offset, having a working depth of up to 4 inches. The rear 2 rows of spring tines are off set and can be adjusted by a manual ratchet or an optional hydraulic cylinder. The spring tines give an ultimate mixing effect of the surface. The rear bar roller pulverizes and packs to the desired density, leaving an attractive pattern finish. The DragNfly handles all types of footings. The DragNfly can easily be pulled with small tractor, ATV, UTV, Golfcart ect..

Coupled with a compact length, this groomer allows tight turns around jumps with a relatively low horsepower requirement.

Q&A WITH LITTLETON EQUINE MEDICAL CENTER DR. KELLY TISHER

Littleton Equine Medical Center located in Littleton, CO, has been a strong and supporting pillar of The Colorado Horse Park (CHP) for nearly two decades, overseeing the treatment of equestrian athletes competing at the show. Dr. Kelly Tisher is the current President and Treasurer of Littleton Equine Medical Center oversees the operation of the equine clinic, while his specialties include Sports Medicine, Lameness and Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) treatments.

Q. How has Littleton Equine Medical Center's relationship with The Colorado Horse Park evolved throughout the years?

A. In the past we've always made it a priority to engage and educate horse facilities and barns in the local region. The Colorado Horse Park is unique for us, because it's the epicenter for local, national, and international shows that we really hope to continue to grow and support. We've been involved with the shows at the facility for more than 20 years and we've enjoyed the relationships we've created with the management and managers at the venue.

Q. During your time in Colorado, how have you seen the horse industry grow?

A. It's been very exciting to watch the horse industry in this region grow throughout the years. It benefits everyone; the feed stores, barn owners, farriers, veterinarians. CHP has been a great focal point for the maintenance and growth of the horse industry in this region. We've seen the industry grow exponentially and with the new ownership and management in place at the facility, we're looking forward and expecting that growth to continue.

Q. Why has Littleton Equine Medical Center continued their involvement with CHP throughout the years?

A. Each of our vets enjoy the atmosphere of being a veterinarian at the show. It's just fun by nature. You get to experience the optimism and hard work of participants who are executing what they practice all year round.

Our sponsorship of the venue is really in support of the horse park as a whole, but it's also our job to help the competitors when they're on-site. It's such a meaningful way to be involved with their careers and aspirations in the sport. For me, the relationships we've made with trainers, owners, and riders who come back to this facility from all around the country and that's truly incredible. You get to meet new people and see each of them success in the ring. It's very motivating.

Q. What is so unique about working on-site at CHP?

A. We feel like our core, the passion that drives us to do what we do. We have compassion for our clients and their horses, who we get to work for. We try to do that in the most professional way possible and I think that defines us as a clinic.

For competitors new and old at CHP, we are proud to offer a full service equine hospital with full emergency capabilities, as well access to advanced sports medicine and diagnostic tools, whether than be an MRI, bone scan, or anything of that nature.

At Littleton Equine Medical Center, we offer decades of experience behind us that ensure we're doing the best for every client and horse. If you combined the experience of all of our veterinarians in the practice, we'd have over 200 years of sports medicine practice. We have a lot of people here who have been doing this a long time and we're looking forward to providing our services to competitors at CHP for many years to come.

A New Era of Eventing

THE COLORADO HORSE PARK TO USHER IN NEW ERA OF EVENTING AT FACILITY IN 2016

In an effort to expand the sport of eventing and offer increased opportunities for competitors, CHP has announced a High Point Series for riders competing at the venue during each of the events hosted at CHP this season, including The Colorado Horse Park Horse Trials (August 12 – 14) and The Colorado Horse Park Three Day Event and Horse Trials (September 15 – September 18).

The High Point Series will offer special prizes and cash awards along with seasonal recognition for the horse and rider combinations who accumulate the most points in their respective divisions over the course of the three horse trials hosted to be hosted at CHP this season. The divisions offering a High Point Award will be Preliminary, Training, Novice and Beginner Novice.

The Colorado Horse Park Three Day Event and Horse Trials (September 15 – 18) has added a major increase in prize money, now offering a $10,000 purse in the Advanced division. The high scoring combination in the division will also earn an invitation to compete at the 2017 Wellington Equestrian Eventing Showcase at Palm Beach International Equestrian Center (PBIEC) in late January.

A major initiative to update and revamp the cross-country course during the off-season was spurred by James Atkinson, a Canadian Advanced level eventer and renowned course designer. With a focus on improving safety and enhancing education, Atkinson is excited to unveil the new course this weekend.

"I gradually inherited this course from David O'Connor and it's been a very exciting project. I wanted to get the Colorado feel back into the course and we've developed and improved the footing in those specific areas around the course," said Atkinson. "This course is incredibly unique to this facility and as a course designer I tried to make some of it my own, with a vision for what I'd like it to be looking into the future."

A New Era of Eventing

Atkinson has designed cross-country tracks at some of the major eventing venues in the United States including the FEI courses at Copper Meadows and Twin Rivers Ranch, solidifying his reputation as a prominent and educational course designer. Atkinson discussed the additions and improvements made to the course this year and he is pleased with the finished product that will be unveiled this Saturday, June 4.

"On this course I wanted to make sure that you're not locked into a single track. As a designer, you want to allow for changes, reroutes, and creativity," he commented. "We've built some very cool fences that are going to be somewhat decorative, but really represent the history and feel of this community."

The course is positioned in an open area of the venue, showcasing the classic hilly Colorado terrain, which Atkinson used to his advantage throughout the redesign, noting, "There's a unique perspective that comes from course design and I've become really involved with that from a rider and trainer perspective too. The feel of Colorado is definitely in this course, and while it does span quite a bit of acreage, I also tried to analyze it from a safety perspective so that if we do encounter any emergencies on course, each fence and area on course is easily accessible."
