Horses and riders braved pouring rain in the name of giving on Saturday night as the 7th Annual Great Charity Challenge, presented by Fidelity Investments® (GCC), was featured during week four of the 2016 Winter Equestrian Festival (WEF). Shane Sweetnam, Kaely Tomeu, and Lindsay Tomeu were the winning team riders on behalf of the George Snow Scholarship Fund, team sponsors Spy Coast & Preston, and corporate sponsor Fidelity Investments® in the night's event at the Palm Beach International Equestrian Center (PBIEC) in Wellington, FL.

In its seventh year, the Great Charity Challenge awarded over $1.65 million dollars in 2016, with 100% of proceeds distributed in full to 50 Palm Beach County charities, bringing the event up to $9.2 million distributed to date. The competition is a pro-am team relay with each team made up of junior and amateur riders competing side by side with top professionals.

Mark Bellissimo, who founded the GCC with his daughter Paige, said, "We truly saw the dedication of everyone involved. The weather was not on our side, but the horses, riders, grooms, trainers, sponsors, charity representatives, spectators, and staff braved some incredible weather conditions for this special event. We can't thank them enough. We know how much of an impact the GCC has for Palm Beach County charities, and for everyone to stick through it means so much. Congratulations to all of our riders, charities, and sponsors for a wonderful night, despite the rain."

Spy Coast & Preston sponsored this year's winning team in addition to corporate sponsor Fidelity Investments®. The theme of the event was "fairy tales," and the top three riders dressed the part of Peter Pan, Tinker Bell, and Wendy from the famous children's story. Lindsay Tomeu (dressed as Wendy) jumped first at the 1.10m height with Bonapart, a 15-year-old Belgian Warmblood gelding. Kaely Tomeu (Tinker Bell) was next to go riding Belle Bleu S, a 15-year-old Holsteiner mare. Shane Sweetnam (as Peter Pan) anchored the team at the 1.30m level, flying through the course aboard Darero, an eight-year-old Dutch Warmblood gelding. Together, the horses and riders completed the fastest time of 89.55 seconds to win the top prize of $150,000 for their charity.

"It feels really good. It is more exciting that it is for a good cause and not just Concluding the fourth week of competition at the 2016 Winter Equestrian Festival (WEF), Eric Lamaze (CAN) and Check Picobello Z jumped to victory in the $216,000 Ariat® Grand Prix CSI 4*.

Forty entries competed and five jumped clear over the Guilherme Jorge (BRA) designed course. With three double clears, Lamaze won in 43.65 seconds. Nick Skelton (GBR) and Untouched finished second in 45.52 seconds, and Marilyn Little (USA) and Corona 93 placed third in 46.20 seconds.

Margie Engle (USA) and Georgina Bloomberg (USA) each dropped rails in the race over the short course to finish fourth and fifth respectively. Engle and Indigo, owned by Griese, Garber, Hidden Creek and Gladewinds, dropped the second to last fence and clocked in at 44.10 seconds. Bloomberg and Gotham Enterprizes LLC's Lilli had the last jump down in 45.55 seconds.

Lamaze continued his winning momentum from earlier in the week with Artisan Farms and Torrey Pines Stable's Check Picobello Z. After winning Thursday's Ruby et Violette WEF Challenge Cup Round 4, the 10-year-old Zangersheide gelding (Cardento x Orlando) stepped up to Sunday's grand prix ready to go.

"I was thrilled with him on Thursday. Winning the WEF (Challenge Cup) was already a big step up for him and this was another level from the WEF; it was much higher fences," Lamaze noted. "This was by far the biggest thing he has ever had to do, so to come out with a win, I could not be happier with him. He is a bit of a different horse. He is not the easiest to maneuver around, but at the end he takes care of the fences for me. He has proven that he can be competitive."

"That was the only jump-off at this height that he has ever done," Lamaze detailed. "Last year I got into a few jump-offs in the 1.50m and he felt like he was a bit empty coming back every time and did not quite understand what the second round was there for. This year he seems to have grown up quite a bit. I think every rider at this level knows how much you can push your horse without putting the for our own satisfaction," Kaely Tomeu stated.

Her younger sister, Lindsay, added, "I am thrilled. I honestly thought we would never win it. Every year we think we have a chance and something happens, so I am delighted."

Sweetnam remarked, "Obviously we had a really strong team this year. Kaely wins a lot, Lindsay wins a lot, and I had a nice horse that has just come into the country and was really good out there. It is nice for the George Snow charity. They told us beforehand that if they went over $60,000, there was a donor that was going to give an extra $100,000, which is really great, so that gave us an extra incentive to give it as much as we could.

"You never know how things are going to go here. There are so many fast riders, we would have been happy to be in the top three," Sweetnam added. "It is great for the foundation and a great cause. Every year this event gets bigger. Mark (Bellissimo) and the team have done an incredible job."

The George Snow Scholarship Fund is dedicated to helping individuals in financial need through a scholarship program for residents of Palm Beach County who are continuing their education. Their goal is to help deserving individuals within the community achieve their career goals, an objective which has the added benefit of bettering the community at large. In short, their goal is to insure that no deserving scholar in the community will be deprived of higher education because of a shortage of funds.

Timothy Snow, president of the George Snow Scholarship Fund, was on hand for the evening and proudly accepted the winning check on behalf of his organization.

"We were in the GCC one of the first years, and we have been trying to get back in ever since," Snow said of the event. "We were thrilled to be chosen this year and the fact that we won it is an amazing blessing. I am essentially speechless." Snow went on to speak about watching the team's winning round and how the money will help his organization.

"First of all, I want to thank every rider that rode in this event tonight," Snow stated. "With the conditions that we had with the rain, they really had a lot of heart, and they gave a lot to all the charities that are going to benefit here tonight. It was an amazing event all the way around. When our team came out, we did not really know what to expect. We met our team earlier and they seemed very confident, so that felt good. But when they went out and they turned in the time that they did, which was so substantially under everybody else, I could not believe it. It was amazing. They are obviously a very talented team and they showed it tonight for sure."

Since its inception the George Snow Scholarship Fund has awarded over 7.3 million dollars in educational grants. In the year 2015 alone, the Scholarship Fund awarded $615,791.15 in scholarships and scholar support services to 67 students. This level of support places the Fund as one of Palm Beach County's largest sources of educational grants. The Fund aims to grant at least one award to each public high school in Palm Beach County. Known as experts in scholarship administration, the George Snow Scholarship Fund has developed a reputation for creating innovative programs, which address the educational needs of those in our community.

Snow also spoke of the extremely generous anonymous donor who gave the charity an additional $100,000 for their win.

"He said that if we had reached the $60,000 level, he would give us an additional $100,000, so tonight is essentially a quarter-of-a-million dollar night for us," Snow declared. "It is unbelievable. It is so special, and the people who organize this have no idea the good that they are doing in our county. They are a huge blessing to so many people, and we thank them for that."

Coming in second place was the team for Bella's Angels, sponsored by EnTrust as well as corporate sponsor Wellington Equestrian Realty. The team of Sydney Shulman, Cloe Hymowitz, and Sophie Rueben completed the course with a combined time of 93.94 seconds to earn $125,000 for their charity.

Kid's Cancer Foundation finished third for the second year in a row and won $112,500. The team was made up of Ignacio Maurin, Emanuel Andrade, and Victoria Karam, sponsored by Hollow Creek and corporate sponsor Meralex Farm. They finished with a combined total of 94.48 seconds.

The GCC features a sliding scale for the balance of the proceeds down to $15,500 for 37th place, ensuring that everyone is a winner.

GCC Executive Director Anne Caroline Valtin said, "Tonight's class was a true demonstration of sportsmanship and philanthropy. Even with some of the strongest rains we've experienced this winter, the teams and riders did not back down. Their dedication to these organizations was nothing short of stoic. We can't thank them enough for braving the weather, all in the name of helping!"

New for 2016, the Grand Prix Society was formed for donors over $50,000 by the Ziegler Family Foundation. This new initiative offers donors the opportunity to designate all or part of their support to a limited list of cornerstone Palm Beach County nonprofit organizations, which resulted in an additional $50,000 of grants distributed during the evening. ■

Hunter Competition in Full Swing Week 4 of WEF

The fourth week of competition at the Winter Equestrian Festival included some unseasonably cold weather and some rain, but hunter and equitation exhibitors continued to brave the elements to battle it out for championship titles.

Kelley Farmer kicked off the show week with an impressive high score of 98 in one of the four over fences classes on her way to the Equine Tack and Nutritionals First Year Green Hunter Championship. Farmer also placed second over fences on Wednesday and won both jumping classes on Thursday aboard Like I Said, an eight-year-old Mecklenburg mare owned by David Glefke and Kent Farrington.

Over on "Pony Island", Natalie Jayne piloted Carolyn Desfor's Welsh Pony Cross gelding, Webster, to the SOLIC Medium Pony Hunter division championship. Jayne earned two blue ribbons in the over fences portion of the division. She also earned a second-place ribbon over jumps and a fourth in the under saddle aboard the 15-year-old gelding. Reserve champion honors were awarded to Brighton My Day and Sophia Calamari. Calamari won the handy, and also placed seventh, second, and third over jumps.

Top junior exhibitors battled it out for the win in the ASPCA Maclay on Sunday morning, but it was the students of Stacia Madden who were the victors in both sections. Maya Nayyar topped Section A with her mount Connaro, who is an 11-year-old Holsteiner gelding. Lucy Deslauriers, of New York, NY, won Section B aboard Great Expectations.

Junior competitors also showcased their talents this week in the hunter ring. Caroline Dance rode Bryan Baldwin's Cinemagic to the Large Junior Hunter 16-17 division championship, which was sponsored by Bruno Delgrange. The pair dominated much of the division, winning the under saddle and two of the four over fences classes. Dance also placed fourth and sixth over jumps with the 10-year-old Westphalian gelding. Catina and Kimmee Gottwald settled for the reserve tricolor honors after earning two firsts and a third over fences, including a win in the stake round.

Competition in the amateur ring was also fierce this weekend. Margaret de Filippo rode Eye Kandy to the Adult Amateur Hunter 18-35 Section B championship. They garnered two firsts and two seconds over fences and were fifth in the under saddle. Stephanie Bulger took home the reserve tricolor aboard her own Mayfair. Bulger placed first, first, second, and fifth over fences with the Holsteiner gelding.

Hunter action resumes on Wednesday, February 10, during week five of the Winter Equestrian Festival. ■ Callie Seaman

Alexander, Moffitt, Heise, and Yates Win $25,000 Artisan Farms U25 Team Event, Sponsored by The McNerney Family

The $25,000 Artisan Farms Under 25 Team Event, sponsored by The McNerney Family, was the highlight event in the International Ring at The Stadium at PBIEC on Friday evening. The competition saw a win for Team 3, which included Taylor Alexander, Emily Moffitt, Emma Heise, and Tina (DiLandri) Yates.

Seventeen teams made up of 65 riders in total contested a Richard Jeffery (GBR) designed course. The top eight teams then returned in reverse order of merit based on their scores from the first round.

Combining the scores from both rounds of competition, three teams ended up in a tie for top honors on eight faults. A tie-breaking jump-off was then held with one rider from each team to determine the final standings.

The winning Team 3 was made up of Taylor Alexander riding Alexander LLC's G&C Flash, Emily Moffitt aboard Poden Farms' For Sale 6, Emma Heise riding Old Willow Farms LLC's Quentucky Jolly, and Tina Yates aboard Highpoint Farm LLC's Zelote VDL, led by Chef d'Equipe Laura Kraut. Alexander, Moffitt, and Heise all train with Kraut and her partner, Nick Skelton, while Yates is trained by her husband, Jonathen Yates.

Alexander was the drop score of eight in round one, but returned to jump clear in round two. Moffitt was the only rider from the team to jump double clear. Heise had a score of four in round and a clear in round two, then jumped off for her team with another clear round in the fastest time of 34.99 seconds to secure their victory. Yates scored four faults in round one and another dropped four faults in round two.

Heise and Quentucky Jolly completed an unbeatable jump-off round that helped their team get the win. The 16-year-old rider from Chicago, IL, was competing in the event for the first time with the 12-year-old Selle Francais gelding (by Nirvana V) that she purchased at the end of last year's WEF circuit.

Speaking of their partnership, Heise stated, "He is very special. He likes to do his own thing and he is definitely one of my more technical rides. It was difficult for me in the beginning to figure out how to get him bent around me in the turns going to the jumps because he likes to shift in a lot. He has come so far in such a short time. We really started clicking a few months ago and this is the third or fourth big class that I have done him in. He is going amazing, and I did not really expect for us to click so well!"

Seventeen-year-old Emily Moffitt (Los Angeles, CA) was also competing in the class for the first time and jumped double clear aboard her mount, For Sale 6. Moffitt has only been riding the 10-year-old Westphalian mare (For Pleasure x Cassini I) for three weeks and was pleasantly surprised at the result.

"It was not in the plan to show her in this at all, so to have a double clear round is unreal," Moffitt smiled. "She is the best horse I have ever ridden; everything about her is perfect."

Taylor Alexander, of Castle Rock, CO, is 21 years old and competed in the Under 25 team event for the first time last year. Alexander was aboard her horse G&C Flash, a 14-year-old Hanoverian gelding (Forrester x Grannus), that she has had for two years.

"I got him as a seasoned horse; he has been there, done that, with a lot of people," Alexander noted. "It is really nice to go in there on a horse who has done it all and done Nations Cups before."

Yates (24) is from Scottsdale, AZ, and also competed in this team event last year. She bought her mount Zelote VDL three years ago and built the 12-year-old KWPN stallion (Chin Chin x Libero H) up to jumping the 1.40m level.

For Yates, competing in a team competition is a valuable part of any rider's education and the Under 25 event provides the riders with great experience.

"You are always competing as an individual, so to be a part of a team is a great experience, especially because I am sure we all have aspirations to be on some Nations Cup teams and represent Team USA," Yates said. "It is really great to come here and get a little feel for what that is like, and obviously winning is the icing on the cake."

Team 8, for Sweet Oak Farm, included Lacey Gilbertson and Seabrook LLC's Bijzonder, Noelle Barry riding Spy Coast Farm LLC's Ventura 9, Kaely Tomeu aboard Siboney Ranch's Gentille, and Brett Burlington with Alden Burlington's Bluf. ■ Lauren Fisher fences at risk, and at this moment he is giving me a lot of confidence that he is going to stay off the fences.”

Nick Skelton has a talented new mount in Poden Farm’s nine-year-old Westphalian stallion, Untouched (Untouchable x Capitol I), and was happy with his second place finish in Sunday’s grand prix.

“He is really relative low experience at this level, so I am very pleased with him,” Skelton said of Untouched. “He has been graduating over the last four weeks and he is getting better all the time.”

“I plan to bring him along until Big Star is back in a couple of weeks,” Skelton continued. “Big Star picked up an infection in his leg from a cut, but when I get him back going, I will have two really nice horses.”

Skelton spoke of the first round and then detailed his plan in the jump-off, stating, “I think the course was quite difficult today. There were very tall verticals and the combination was in a difficult place. All in all, it was a good four-star course.”

“I planned to go as quick as I could and not put the fences at risk because I knew whatever I did, Eric was going to beat me,” Skelton said of the second round. “He is always going to be faster; the only chance I had was if he had one down. That was my only hope I think, but I was very pleased with the horse anyway. I have not been in the jump-off in a couple of years, so I am really pleased.”

Marilyn Little also competed in this week’s 2016 Asheville Regional Airport Wellington Eventing Showcase, presented by Wellington Equestrian Realty, at PBIEC and was thrilled to finish out the weekend with an excellent grand prix finish. Little was aboard Raylyn Farms’ Corona 93, a 12-year-old Hanoverian mare (Cordalme Z x Lenz XX) that she has owned for one year.

“I have had a wonderful group of people behind her,” Little explained. “Andrea King, Angel Karolyi, Christina Kelly, and my mother Lynn Little have all helped to bring her along at the shows when I could not be there. I got to step onto a very lovely horse in December and take my time getting to know her. She is an experienced horse and certainly has more scope than I have ever had the privilege to ride. It has been a dream out there.”

Little, who was the team and individual gold medalist in Eventing at the 2015 Pan American Games, spoke about stepping into the grand prix ring after the weekend’s Eventing. “The jumps looked very big today - less solid, but very big,” she said. “It was really exciting for me to be here. I have not jumped in a grand prix in quite a few years now. I have been Eventing and focusing on that. The Pan American Games were a very big push last year and I would not trade the experience at Eventing for anything, but I also would not trade the feeling out there for anything either. It was such a thrill!”

“I was proud that she went so well, and to be part of a jump-off with names like the ones that were all coming behind me... If Nick felt like he could not be fast enough, you can imagine how I felt,” Little laughed. “I was hoping to go clear. I do not know the horse so well; she is a new ride for me in the last three weeks. I was hoping for a double clear, and she did the job. Then I got to watch Nick and Eric show me how to do it”

A special $500 Groom’s Award was also presented to Martina Natali as the groom of winning horse, Check Picobello Z. ■ Lauren Fisher

Boyd Martin Repeats Eventing Victory

Boyd Martin (USA) piloted new mount Blackfoot Mystery to victory in the $75,000 Asheville Regional Airport Wellington Eventing Showcase, presented by Wellington Equestrian Realty, held at The Stadium at Palm Beach International Equestrian Center and produced by Equestrian Sport Productions (ESP). Martin bested a class of 35 entries with a final score of 30.60. Colleen Rutledge (USA) and Covert Rights finished in second place with a 31.00, while Daniel Jocelyn (NZL) rode catch-ride Devil Munchkin to third with a score of 32.30.

The 2016 event proved to be the most successful yet, as a large crowd of spectators and fans packed the Global Pavilion and lined the fences of the polo and derby fields used to host cross-country competition. Martin and Blackfoot Mystery, owned by the Blackfoot Mystery Syndicate, jumped to an early lead after going clear in the show jumping phase around the difficult track set by Richard Jeffrey. They then continued fault-free on cross-country to earn a double clear effort.

"This year was a much more competitive field, and it was definitely of a higher standard. The course was a bit tougher, and it was harder to win this year than last year. By saying that, I knew this horse I had, Blackfoot Mystery, had a good chance," said Martin. "We've just purchased him thanks to a group of supporters and this is the first time a few of the owners have come to see him. [There are] not many better ways to impress our owners than to bring them to Wellington in this beautiful marquee and have this horse win. I was very pleased on all levels."

Blackfoot Mystery, a 2004 Thoroughbred gelding (Out of Place x True Mystery), has come into his own with the experienced Martin. The pair were only one of eight clear efforts (no jumping or time faults) in the stadium round, which has been an aspect of training Martin has focused on since acquiring the talented gelding in July.

The event, which saw four different nations represented, offered new owners and fans the opportunity to experience the third equestrian Olympic discipline at PBIEC. Martin, who thrives in pressure situations, rose to the occasion once again and found himself crossing the finish with a double clear round in hand, ultimately securing his second victory.

Martin said, "I've got a lot of respect for (ESP CEO) Mark Bellissimo, and I think we've got a similar personality. His ideas are out of this world, which I love. Wellington is a place for the Olympic disciplines, except for eventers, until this [competition], and I think he's got the sport we love in front of a lot more people."

Colleen Rutledge and her impressive home-bred Covert Rights made another bold statement early in the year, adding this top finish to their list of accolades over the past two years. The 2006 Thoroughbred cross gelding (Black Fox Farm Incognito x Let's Get It Right) has added two FEI CCI 4* finishes to its resume over the past two years and looks primed to take the international limelight again, as the duo are headed to the Rolex Kentucky Three-Day CCI 4*.

"The cross-country course was fabulous today," said Rutledge. "I was so proud of the way that CR went out and ran. The amount that he's grown up since Rolex last year is just leaps and bounds. He's a completely different horse. This was just fantastic to run on and the course was great. It asked some very good questions and for me, this was my horse's first run of the year. It was a fantastic start, and I'm just thrilled with everything. I've had a great time and a great run."

Daniel Jocelyn was one of two non-U.S. based riders representing the nation of New Zealand who made the trip to PBIEC to test the waters of the event. Tim Price also made the journey to Wellington for the event. Both riders currently reside in the U.K. and were paired with two catch rides for the event. Jocelyn made the most of his time aboard Devil Munchkin a 2008 Dutch Warmblood gelding (Casiro I x Rhona), owned by Sable Giesler. Jocelyn had sat on the gelding just one time before entering the dressage ring on Friday afternoon. They added nothing to their original score of 32.30 for third place.

Jocelyn said, "Firstly, thank you to Sable [Giesler] and Jessica [Bortner-Harris] for lending the horses to me for this weekend. I'm very happy to have the ride on the horses, and they've obviously done a good job on the groundwork because the horses felt fantastic."

"This is a fantastic facility, and I've enjoyed the three days I've been here. It's an unbelievable experience and something certainly I'll be taking home and telling everyone about. It's a great time," he continued.

The mastermind behind much of the operation, Mark Bellissimo, also managing partner of Tryon Equestrian Partners, spoke to the notion of bringing all three equestrian Olympic disciplines to Wellington and the success of the event.

"Thank you to Asheville Regional Airport. They've been a great partner here and a great partner in Tryon. We appreciate everything you do for us. We've had a great relationship with Wellington Equestrian Realty since they stormed Wellington six years ago. We're very proud of this event and it really takes a village," Bellissimo said. "It's amazing to see a group of athletes, both human and animal, go through this course and everywhere I walked there were so many people who were just excited because they had never seen this before."

Several new awards were distributed during the awards ceremony, highlighting the dedication and support of owners and team members for all participating rider combinations. Caroline Moran of Goshen Hill donated $10,000 for the Grooms' Awards, which was distributed to all grooms at the event in honor of their continued hard work and commitment to the sport. Martin's groom, Sergio Reyes, took top honors earning $2,500, while Colleen Rutledge's groom Alex Ambelang received $1,500, and $1,000 went to Sabel Giesler, the groom for Daniel Jocelyn this week. The Blackfoot Mystery Syndicate, owners of the winning horse, were awarded with a $10,000 check to be donated to the charity of their choice, Guillain-Barre syndrome research, in honor of syndicate member Anne Laver. Martin also received a $10,000 bonus for winning two years in a row. ■ Carly Weilminster © Meg Banks for ESP: Boyd Martin and Blackfoot Mystery easily galloped down the Asheville Regional Airport "Runway" through the Global Pavilion on course for cross-country.

Allison Springer and Arthur won the dressage phase and finished ninth overall.

Phillip Dutton and Fernhill Fugitive were clear through show jumping and cross-country for fourth place overall.

The Grooms' Awards, donated by Caroline Moran, went to Sergio Reyes, Alex Ambelang, and Sabel Giesler.

Boyd Martin was joined by his owners of the Blackfoot Mystery Syndicate for a $10,000 Owner's Award, which was donated to their charity of choice for Guillain-Barre syndrome research, in honor of syndicate member Anne Laver.

Craig Martin, Rob Desino, and Matt Varney of Wellington Equestrian Realty joined Mark Bellissimo for the top three rider awards.

Colleen Rutledge and Covert Rights moved from fifth to second after a clear show jumping phase and stayed clear on cross-country for second overall.

Daniel Jocelyn rode Devil Munchkin for the first time on Thursday, but his solid rides placed them third overall.

FACES OF WEF:

A Conversation with Christian Craig

The torch that is Winter Equestrian Festival Ringmaster has been passed this year. Gustavo Murcia, the familiar face of prize giving during the 2015 season, is now dedicated to his work as an equine dentist full-time and has made way for a protege.

Ringmaster Christian Craig
© Lindsay Brock

Twenty-one-year-old Christian Craig can be found darting between rings, posing for awards presentation, and always offering a smile to riders and visitors to Palm Beach International Equestrian Center. However, WEF is not all that consumes his time. Craig is becoming proficient at juggling two part-time jobs and a full course load at Broward College in Fort Lauderdale with plans that include Florida Atlantic University, law school, and much more.

HERE'S A CLOSER LOOK AT CHRISTIAN CRAIG:

HOW DID YOU BECOME RINGMASTER AT WEF?

I owe it all to the Gamboa family. Leanne Gamboa works here, and she recommended me for the job. It's because of them that I am doing this, but I talk to Gustavo all the time. Every time I have a question, I call him and he walks me through it. It was pretty nerve-racking at first, but thanks to him I am making it work.

WHAT IS YOUR EXPERIENCE WITH THE HORSE INDUSTRY?

I rode and competed until I was 12, but then I found football and rugby. Both my parents grew up riding and my little sister still competes.

DO YOU ENJOY BEING AROUND HORSES AGAIN?

It's nice to be around horses again, but especially at this level. They are beautiful animals. Even after being out of it for 10 years, I really appreciate the quality horses I see every day.

WHAT DO YOU LIKE MOST ABOUT BEING RINGMASTER?

I'm not really a social person, but because of this job I have to get out of my comfort zone and meet people. I talk to extremely interesting people every day. That's the best part because you have to get out of your comfort zone to become better as a person.

WHAT CAN WE FIND YOU DOING WHEN YOU'RE NOT AT THE HORSE SHOW OR STUDYING?

You can find me at my other job as personal trainer at the Weston YMCA or working out. I used to be overweight despite all the sports I played. One of the trainers at the YMCA really turned my life around. He offered me the opportunity to be a trainer; I took it and it became a passion.

WHERE DO YOU SPEND YOUR RARE DAYS OFF?

At the gym or the beach. But, my favorite place to spend a few days off is the Bahamas.

Gleneayre Equestrian Program Visits WEF 5

The 2016 Winter Equestrian Festival (WEF) welcomes visitors from the Gleneayre Equestrian Program (GEP) of Lumberton, NJ, during week five competition. Gleneayre Equestrian Program's mission is to provide an experiential learning environment where children facing challenges such as academic, social, financial, family, or the challenges associated with military families, can feel safe and valued. It is a place where children and horses come together for the betterment of each other's lives through teaching sound horsemanship, ethics, and character skills; and youth have opportunities for physical and emotional growth, responsibility, and self-discovery.

Today, many children need a healthy outlet for their personal, family or academically related stresses. GEP has created a safe place for children to develop and grow. Their work to ride program provides children who are experiencing challenges an opportunity to develop a relationship with horses. It is GEP's directive to accurately portray and teach every aspect of horsemanship; therefore each GEP student is assigned a personal project horse. Students are responsible for everything from grooming and exercising the horses to cleaning their horses' stalls and tack, practicing basic barn management skills, and administering limited veterinary care with supervision.

Over the weekend of February 13-14, seven seniors of the GEP work to ride program will visit Wellington along with GEP's Managing Director, Alison Newman, her assistant, and GEP's assistant trainer. During their stay, the girls have a fun schedule of activities planned with some of the USA's top trainers and riders. They will be staying at the house of GEP Founder and Executive Director Ellen J. Healey.

On Saturday morning, the girls will volunteer at The County Special Olympics and assist as judges for the competition, held in the Van Kampen Covered Arena at The Stadium at PBIEC. They will then observe an equitation lesson with renowned trainer Stacia Madden and have the opportunity to meet the riders after their lesson. On Saturday evening, the girls will get the chance to walk the grand prix course with a special celebrity trainer.

Sunday morning, the girls will walk the Maclay course with Stacia Madden and observe the class. They will then meet with George Morris in the afternoon. Monday will be a fun beach and shopping day. Then on Tuesday, the girls will visit Hunter Farms, where a former GEP student is now a professional groom. In the afternoon, they will have the opportunity to audit another lesson. At some point during the weekend, the group will also meet with well-known trainer Michele Grubb to observe grand prix rider Ali Wolff as she prepares and shows.

This will be the sixth time that the Gleneayre program has visited WEF, and Ellen Healey looks forward to hosting the girls for this fantastic experience.

"The girls fundraise and then the senior girls get to come down and stay with me in my home," Healey detailed. "We want them to see the other end of the sport. The girls care for their horses, do farm and barn management chores under supervision, and they compete. We do a local circuit, and periodically we can do some rated shows, but we wanted the girls to experience everything down here and meet some of the stars of their sport. We have been so fortunate that everyone has been gracious enough to meet with the girls. Our last year here we got to observe George Morris riding and jumping and he spent a lot of time talking with the girls. It was an amazing thing to see."

"The horses we use are all donated," Healey added. "Many are horses that have spent time at the WEF and other big competitions. Some of the horses retire on our farm when they can no longer be ridden and they can be retrained for groundwork in the therapy program. We also have a program for military families. It is an equine facilitated psychotherapy program dealing with military personnel and their families."

The Gleneayre Equestrian Program looks forward to a fun stay in Wellington during week five competition. For more information on the program, visit www.gepnj.org. ■
