SPONSORSHIP BROCHURE

TRYON INTERNATIONAL EQUESTRIAN CENTER
Thank you for your interest in becoming a sponsor at the Tryon International Equestrian Center (TIEC). The TIEC opened in the fall of 2014 and has become one of the premier equestrian facilities in the world, hosting hunter/jumper, dressage, and eventing competitions for equestrians of all levels, throughout the calendar year. The rapid growth and success is due to the strong leadership team of the Tryon Equestrian Partners (TEP) and from support from our sponsors. Our goal is to lead the equestrian industry with unique experiences for spectators, competitors, and sponsors, while exposing a larger audience to equestrian sport. We accomplish this by custom tailoring each sponsor activation to suit specific needs and target their preferred audience, using a variety of communication channels. As the TIEC continues to grow, we will continue to push the boundaries on innovation and creativity that will elevate the sport and your business’ ROI. The team at TEP is committed to developing a partnership that will last many years to come.

Sincerely,

SPONSORSHIP TEAM
When the TEP built the Tryon International Equestrian Center they had a vision to create a premier equestrian training and competition facility for all disciplines that would cater to the equestrian athlete and horse, while also being a place anyone can come and enjoy the equestrian sport. By doing this, the TEP are hoping to attract a larger audience to participate in equestrian events, whether it is a carousel ride, competing in an internationally recognized event, or coming to the Tryon International Equestrian Center to watch the horses and enjoy the various amenities. One of the ways this goal has been achieved is by creating special events, such as, “Saturday Night Lights” and “Derby Days” which center around watching top horses and riders compete on Saturday Night in the George Morris Arena, or on Sunday afternoon on the state of the art Grass Complex. These events are always free to the public and include additional entertainment such as, live music, magicians, bouncy house, pony rides and more, so the entire family can have fun. These events attract new fans, as well as other professional and amateur riders that compete during the week. If an equestrian fan is unable to come to the venue, they are still able to enjoy the action by live streaming through the Chronicle of the Horse TV.

Jumpers - Jumpers combine the speed of Horse racing with the precision of Tennis. In jumpers competitions, hundredths of a second and inches determine the winner. Horse and riders compete over jumps that can reach heights up to 5’3” tall and 7’ wide. The goal is to leave all of the jumps up while going faster than all of the others in the class. If a rider is off by only an inch, the rail will come down and they will lose their shot at victory.

Hunters - One of the subjective disciplines that focuses on the horses overall elegance, grace and style. The riders job in the hunter ring to is make the horse look as good as it can while navigating the horse over natural looking obstacles ranging from 3’6” to 4’. The modern hunter discipline comes from the old English fox hunting tradition.

Equitation - Popularized in the United States, Equitation is used to help build the skills of young riders so they can go on to be successful in the upper level jumpers. Open to riders under the age of 18, the classes are judged on how effortlessly the rider can navigate a set of jumps set in close proximity to one another, with tight turns in between. The United States has four National Equitation Championships that riders must qualify for. Many of America’s Olympic Gold Medalists got their start in the equitation ring.

Eventing - Eventing is an equestrian event where horse and rider compete in three different disciplines; dressage, cross-country and show jumping. This requires a mastery of several types of riding. It is considered the triathlon of equestrian competitions.

Dressage - Often referred to as “Dancing with a Horse”, horse and rider train and compete in 9 progressive levels with each level having a series of predetermined movements that they are judged on. Each test has a different variation of patterns and horse and rider are scored on a scale of 0 being not performed at all to 10 being excellently performed per each movement in the given test.
